

++
++
++
++

++
++
++
++

Annual Report

2023-2024 Academic Year

Student Accountability
& Restorative Practices

This year, we...

Photos courtesy of William & Mary University Marketing

- Welcomed the class of 2027 with the Honor & Conduct Pledge, with participation from the Undergraduate Honor Council, Conduct Council, Conduct and Honor Advisor Program (CHAPs) and the WM Connects mentor program
- Conducted fall training with all four SARP organizations as well as implicit bias training in partnership with the Center for Student Diversity (CSD)

- Hosted a Values Week program with guest speaker Former US Representative Elaine Luria to engage with the community on the issues of personal and professional integrity
- Changed our name! We are now Student Accountability & Restorative Practices (SARP), embracing our philosophy of compassionate accountability in alignment with our vision

Honor Code: Cases and Outcomes

+ +
+ +
+ +
+ +

	2021-22	2022-23	2023-24
Students Reported	74	83	95
Students Responsible	65	76	77

Sanctions Issued

Warning	17	10	1
Disciplinary Probation	38	24	23
Deferred Disciplinary Suspension	8	14	39
Disciplinary Suspension	0	4	3

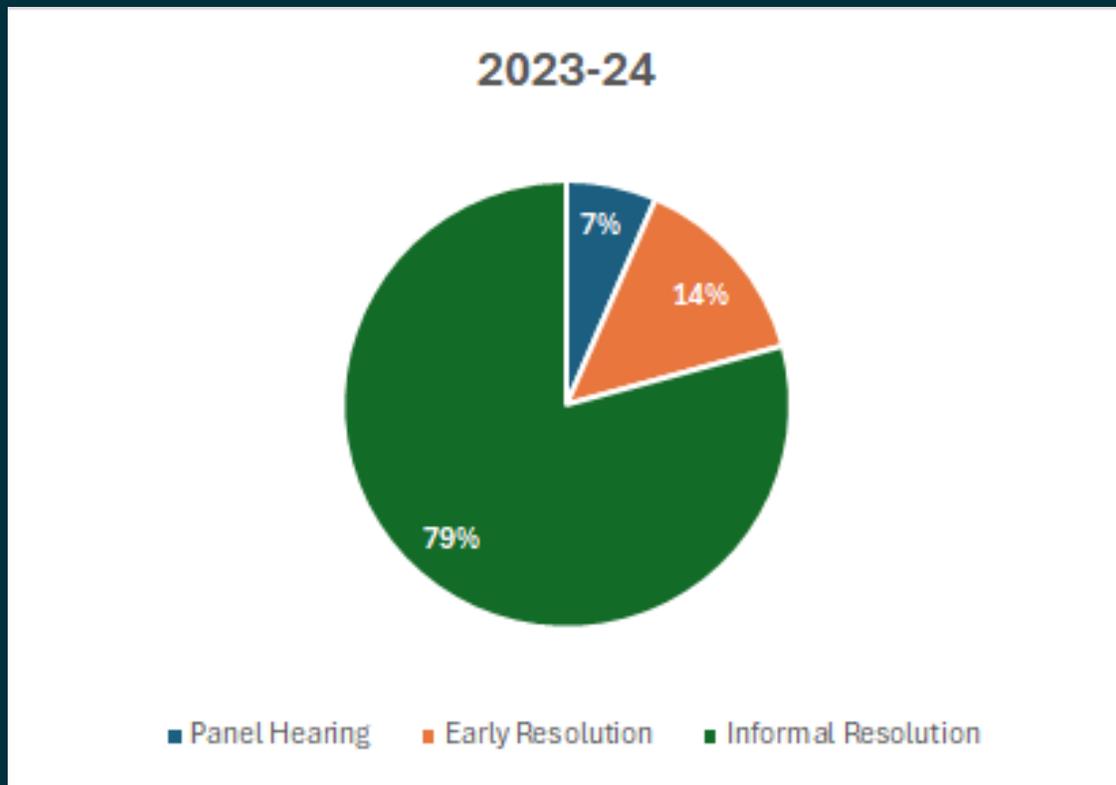

Honor Code: Findings*

+ +
+ +
+ +
+ +

	2021-22	2022-23	2023-24
Cheating: Unauthorized Collaboration	9	32	44
Cheating: Plagiarism	16	24	14
Cheating: Use of Unauthorized Materials	24	13	12
Cheating: Other	0	3	2
Lying	13	6	3
Stealing	4	9	8

++
++
++
++

Honor Code Resolutions Are Now Faster & Easier

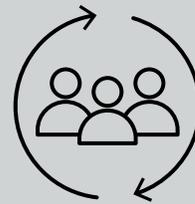

93.5% of our cases resolved without a formal hearing.

Numbers at a Glance

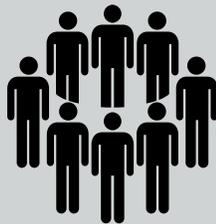

90%

Percentage of cases resolved without separating the student

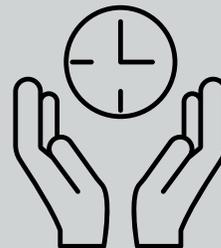

87%

Students accepting responsibility or found responsible (last 4 years)

95

Total cases reported this year

1

Average number of hours faculty spend in the Honor process after making a report.

This year, we are excited to...

Photo courtesy of Elaine Luria

1 Continue our restorative focus

We are continuing our transition to incorporate more restorative practices, including enhancing engagement with faculty who report matters.

2 Foster student leadership

Following a successful first iteration of our Co-Chair training program last spring, we are looking forward to continuing our emphasis on developing our students as leaders.

Photo courtesy of William & Mary University Marketing